Designed for use with driveway gates and garage doors, the io Premium 2-channel radio keypad allows for simultaneous, independent control of two devices. Access to the control buttons can be gained using a master code or separate codes for each button, significantly expanding the range of available usage scenarios. The buttons are backlit, with sound and visual feedback confirming operation.

With a long range of up to 150 metres in open terrain, the reliability of the io radio protocol, a solid metal housing, and extended battery life, the io Premium 2-channel radio keypad guarantees convenient and secure access to your property in any situation.
